Celebration!

Ground broken for Post Office

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Someone in Romulus must have better connections than had been evident previously, because the storm clouds parted and let the sunshine on the crowd gathering at the old Romulus Foundry building for the official groundbreaking ceremony for the soon-to-be built Carl W. Morris Post Office Building.

Minutes after the last speaker has said their piece, the sun once again hid behind the ominous overcast.

In attendance was Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor), who has been one of the main forces behind the realization of the new post office, as well as its being named after Morris, who died in 1982.

"Construction of the Carl W. Morris Post Office Building holds great significance for the city of Romulus," said Ford, who added that "it represents an important investment. The Postal Service recognizes that this is a growing city with a vital business district at its core."

Mayor Beverly McNally noted that the new post office will "stand as a tribute to the determination and imagination of a group of people who shared a dream and an idea for the improvement of our city. Fittingly, it will be named for one of that group, whose interest and dedication to the city of Romulus has endured through many, many years."

McNally said the tearing down of the foundry will "help eliminate a blight that has plagued the downtown development, will spark the continuation of redevelopment, and will add a handsome structure to our main street."

Ford addressed himself to the fact that many people have voiced confusion over whether or not this will be a "full-service facility," which Ford hastened to say it would be, although letter carriers will still deliver in Romulus from the Taylor Post Office.

"A full-service facility doesn't have anything to do with letter carriers going from door to door. It's a different operation. Some people have trouble understanding why the inside of the post office doesn't look the way it did in the old days, with carriers milling around. It isn't done that way anymore."

"To say that this won't be a full-service office unless we move a whole lot of people in and have their mail brought here and delivered elsewhere is nonsense," Ford said. "That isn't what we're about here."

"We want a place that people in Romulus know will be open on a regular basis and will perform all the functions that the post office is supposed to. That's where the needy line up and our employees help them get access to food stamps. Young people who are caught by the draft registration, that's where you go to do it. And every time someone in Washington gets a bright idea about how to do something so that it will be accessible to the American people, and they'll know where to go to see their government in action, they use the Post Office."

Also on hand was Gene Cole, Detroit Postmaster, and District Manager John Horne. Cole said that he was "looking forward to coming back in a few months to cut the ribbon" that will mark the opening of the new facility.

Leo Kalota, chairman of the Romulus Post Office Committee, said that the project was the "result of not just one person, but a team," and added that "we can renovate the entire downtown area, if we stick to it."

In attendance, but not speaking were Romulus councilpersons Mary Ann Banks, Pete Bergeron, William Wadsworth and Barry Baumann; Clerk Linda Choate; Treasurer John Lewkowicz and Romulus Postmistress Martha Wensko.

Beulah Morris, wife of Carl, stated that she and the rest of the Morris family were "very grateful for honoring Carl by allowing that it be known as the Carl W. Morris Post Office."

Why Carl Morris?

According to Congressman Bill Ford, his friend Carl W. Morris was a top-notch community leader in Romulus for more than 30 years until his death in 1982 at the age of 66.

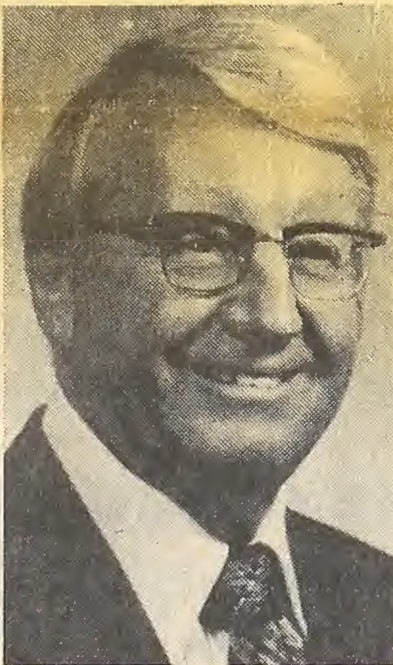

"Carl was a prominent member of the local business community to be sure," Ford stated, "but it was his activity during his spare time which endeared him to his fellow citizens. Beginning with his election to the Romulus school board in 1947, he devoted his time and energy to a wide variety of civic activities."

"And," said Ford, "anyone who has ever sat on a school board knows that it's a very, very hard job. But Carl always seemed to find the time for those hard jobs."

Morris' record of service includes terms as president of the Wayne Intermediate School Board and of the Michigan Association of School Boards.

The Morris family has long established itself in Romulus, having resided here for 130 years. Carl Morris' wife, Beulah, still makes this city her home.

"This is really a matter of

pride for those of us lucky enough to have known Carl," said Ford, "and certainly ought to be for this city. I hope that there are always people around who will, when they hear a young person say 'I wonder why it's called the Carl W. Morris Post Office', they will be able to tell them."

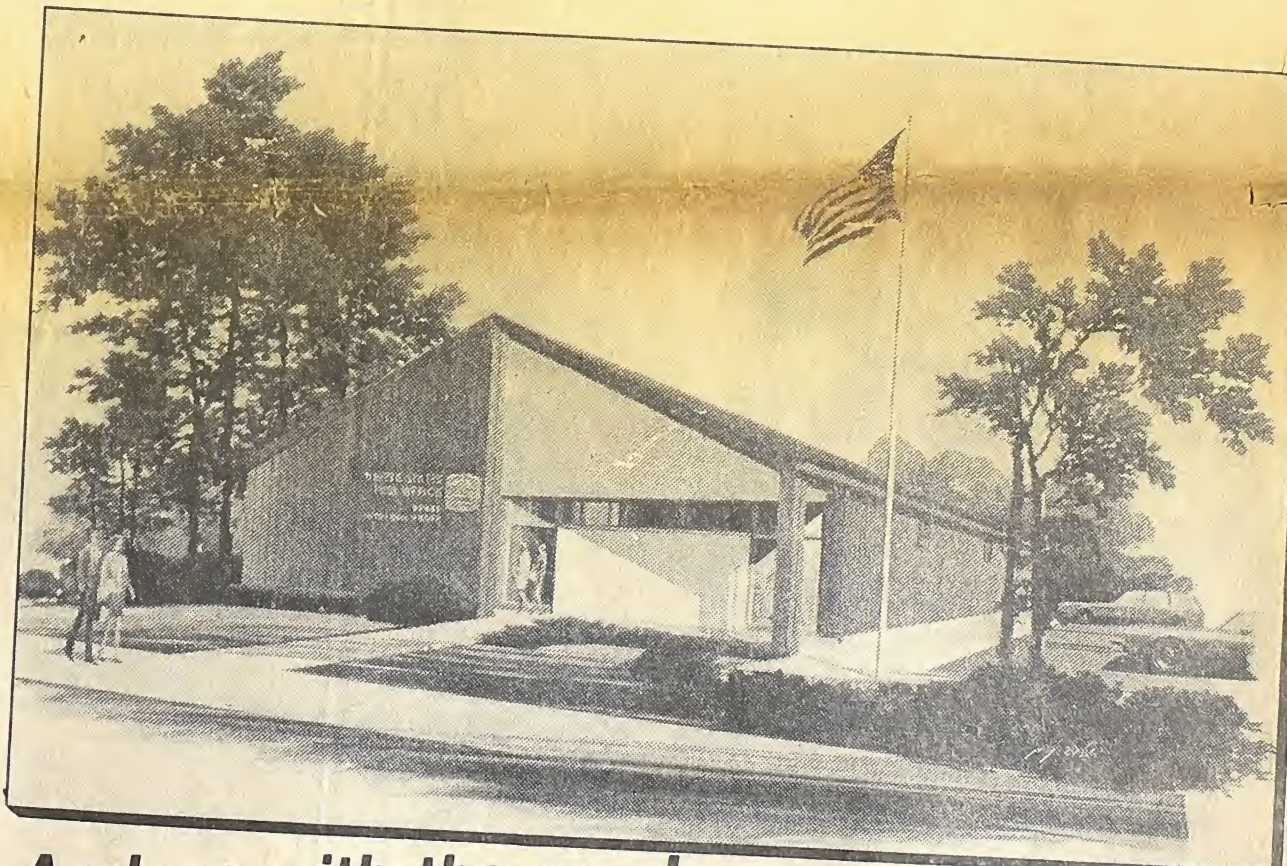

Mayor Beverly McNally and Congressman Bill Ford lend a hand to Beulah Morris as the first shovel of dirt is overturned on what will become the new Romulus Post Office. Pictured are: (back row, from left) Leo Kalota; Mayor Pro-Tem Mary Ann Banks; Councilmen Noah P. Once is not enough Police raid fireworks store again

ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus "legal" fireworks stand was raided last Sunday for the second time in 10 days, with police officers this time confiscating approximately $10,000 worth of illegal fireworks. On June 20, an estimated $700 worth of firecrackers, bottle rockets and other illegal fireworks were taken.

According to police reports, Officer Michael Ondejko stopped in front of the stand, which is located at 30925 Ecorse, at approximately 2:30 p.m., while making a routine run. The officer then reportedly observed a blue Pontiac with the trunk open and a young boy handing a man a large pack of firecrackers.

As the officer approached the car, the 15-year-old Belleville boy slammed the trunk shut and, when asked to open it, claimed that it was not his vehicle, and he didn't have keys to it. Before the trunk was closed, the officer observed various packages of illegal fireworks.

Two men, Zachary Daniel of Dearborn Heights and Gary Mulkey, 31, of Canton, exited the door of the stand. A lien check showed the car registered to Mulkey. Reportedly, Mulkey was told to open the trunk of the car or it would be towed, and he complied. Numerous containers of illegal fireworks were then found, according to police.

Police raid fireworks store a second time the fireworks from the trunk into boxes supplied by Mulkey. Mulkey was observed taking a paper bag — which contained M-80s and "quarter-sticks" — and allegedly attempting to conceal it under the left wheel of the vehicle.

While passing a blue van parked next to the Pontiac, Ondejko reportedly "clearly observed" several boxes of fireworks, some marked "whistling bottle rockets," on the passenger bench directly behind the drivers seat.

When the officer attempted to enter the van, he was obstructed by Mulkey, who, according to police, told him he needed a search warrant to go inside.

Ondejko informed him that he had observed the boxes which, according to his past experiences, led him to believe contained illegal fireworks and proceeded to enter the van.

Inside, the officer found "a multitude" of illegal fireworks. In addition to the illegalities, Ondejko also voiced his concern for public safety due to the improper storage of the fireworks.

Police then had the van towed and took possession of what was estimated as being between $10,000 and $15,000 worth of illegal items.

Gerald Gilbert, 36, of Roseville, was cited for possession of the firecrackers he was observed buying as the police drove up.

Mulkey, who had tried to get the fireworks license for himself but was turned down, was also cited for possession. Police say additional charges may be levied pending court proceedings.

Fourteenth group home scheduled for Romulus

In a letter received by Mayor Beverly McAnally's office on June 29, it was revealed that Wayne Community Living Services plans to add another group home in Romulus. It will become the 14th such home within the city limits and is the second to be announced in a month and-a-half.

Unlike the last group home to be announced, which is to be built, this one will go into an existing structure at 9520 Ozga, and will serve as a residence for six adults with mental retardation.

According to the letter, residents will be moved into the home from another group home operated by the same contractor, Life Center Inc. The contractor is responsible for the daily activities of the home, including the hiring and supervision of the staff and their care and training of the persons living in the home.

Notification will be forthcoming from Wayne Community Living Services to local officials and neighbors of the Ozga home, according to the letter.

Jet boats simply don't belong on Belleville Lake

Jet boats — those mega-power, noisy crafts that are the on-the-water counterparts to Corvettes — don't belong on Belleville Lake.

The June 30 tragedy, one of the worst in the lake's history, only affirmed what many locals and lake lovers have long been saying.

That Saturday evening, two young Belleville residents were killed when a jet boat zooming at an estimated 60 miles an hour crashed into a cabin cruiser.

One victim was a passenger on the cabin cruiser; the other was the owner of and passenger on the jet boat. The operator of the high-powered speedboat was arraigned in 34th District Court on two counts of manslaughter.

Unpredictable in their speed and unsettling in their noise, the gas guzzlers irk and alarm lake users engaged in quieter forms of recreation and transportation.

The lake is not very large and its twists and bends make the sudden appearance of the macho boats especially startling.

Speedboat owners may argue that, in the recent accident, the boat owner and not the boat was responsible. (The Wayne County Sheriff's Department has confirmed that the boat's operator was under the influence of alcohol).

This argument just doesn't hold water. The difference between the jet boats and, say, sailboats isn't that between apples and oranges but between sparklers and firecrackers.

Safety aside, the lake belongs to everyone: the sailers, the fishers, the rowers, and the watchers on shore. The interests of a noisy minority shouldn't prevail over the rights of the majority to enjoy the lake in tranquility.

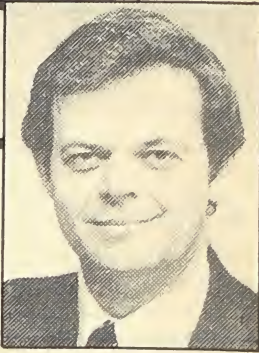

We applaud the efforts of Van Buren Township officials who, in the wake of the tragedy, are developing a local ordinance aimed at banning the macho boats from Belleville Lake. We hope the state Department of Natural Resources drops anchor behind the measure.

The state of Michigan should take a closer look at how boats and boat owners come together. At present, no boat owner is required to pass a test proving that he or she knows how to operate the vehicle, or is familiar with safety procedures. All anyone needs to zoom out on the nearest lake is sufficient cash.

Let's see some movement into the still waters of boat control. But first — get the jet boats out of Belleville Lake.

'Cable'

A plethora of thought and opinion has been provided these last few years concerning cable television, its future and the impact of cable technology on you.

What is becoming clear is that after a "jump start" a great deal of the "hoopla" is gone. Left in its place are those responsible for dealing with the realities of today. Gone are the "super salesmen" who promised the municipalities cable systems that were "state of the art." Gone, too, are the aggressive cable company attitudes, and those willing to pursue local cable franchises in western Wayne County. Gone are the eager bidders, willing to prostrate their company into an untenable position just to win the approval know of must be present. Residential depri- zed franchise agreement back to the home office.

Often, it would now appear, the real winners in these battles were the companies who walked away without the franchise. Communities who today are complaining about "not being wired" would do well to be grateful and patient with those companies who are still expressing an interest in constructing a system.

In order for a franchise to be worth the risk a cable company takes in such an undertaking, a number of elements that we probably all know of must be present. Residential density and attractive market profiles made some areas appeal more to would-be bidders. But, too often, disproportionately high bid offers have been tendered to local government officials, some with greed in their hearts. Always, the offers were made under the guise of serving the interests of the constituents, and ultimately the bidding frenzy increased and the communities ended up asking for much more than could logically be supported.

Now, operations managers are trying to make economic sense out of the rubble left behind the hysterics of that bidding.

Several things seem inevitable. Rate increases for existing services will no doubt be coming. For, if a system cannot project profits, cable companies will have no alternative but to sell the operation. Cashing in for some of the protection of larger companies would allow overhead burdens to be spread over a greater base and ultimately offer smaller rates to subscribers.

Let's be more specific. Omnicom has on its hands an "island" in the Belleville franchise. They bid for the system hoping they could pick up adjacent franchises, no doubt. But it didn't happen.

The Wayne system was obviously built in anticipation of winning the franchises in Westland, Garden City and Livonia. Those franchises went elsewhere — partially because timing dictated that Group W halt franchising efforts by the time Westland went for grabs.

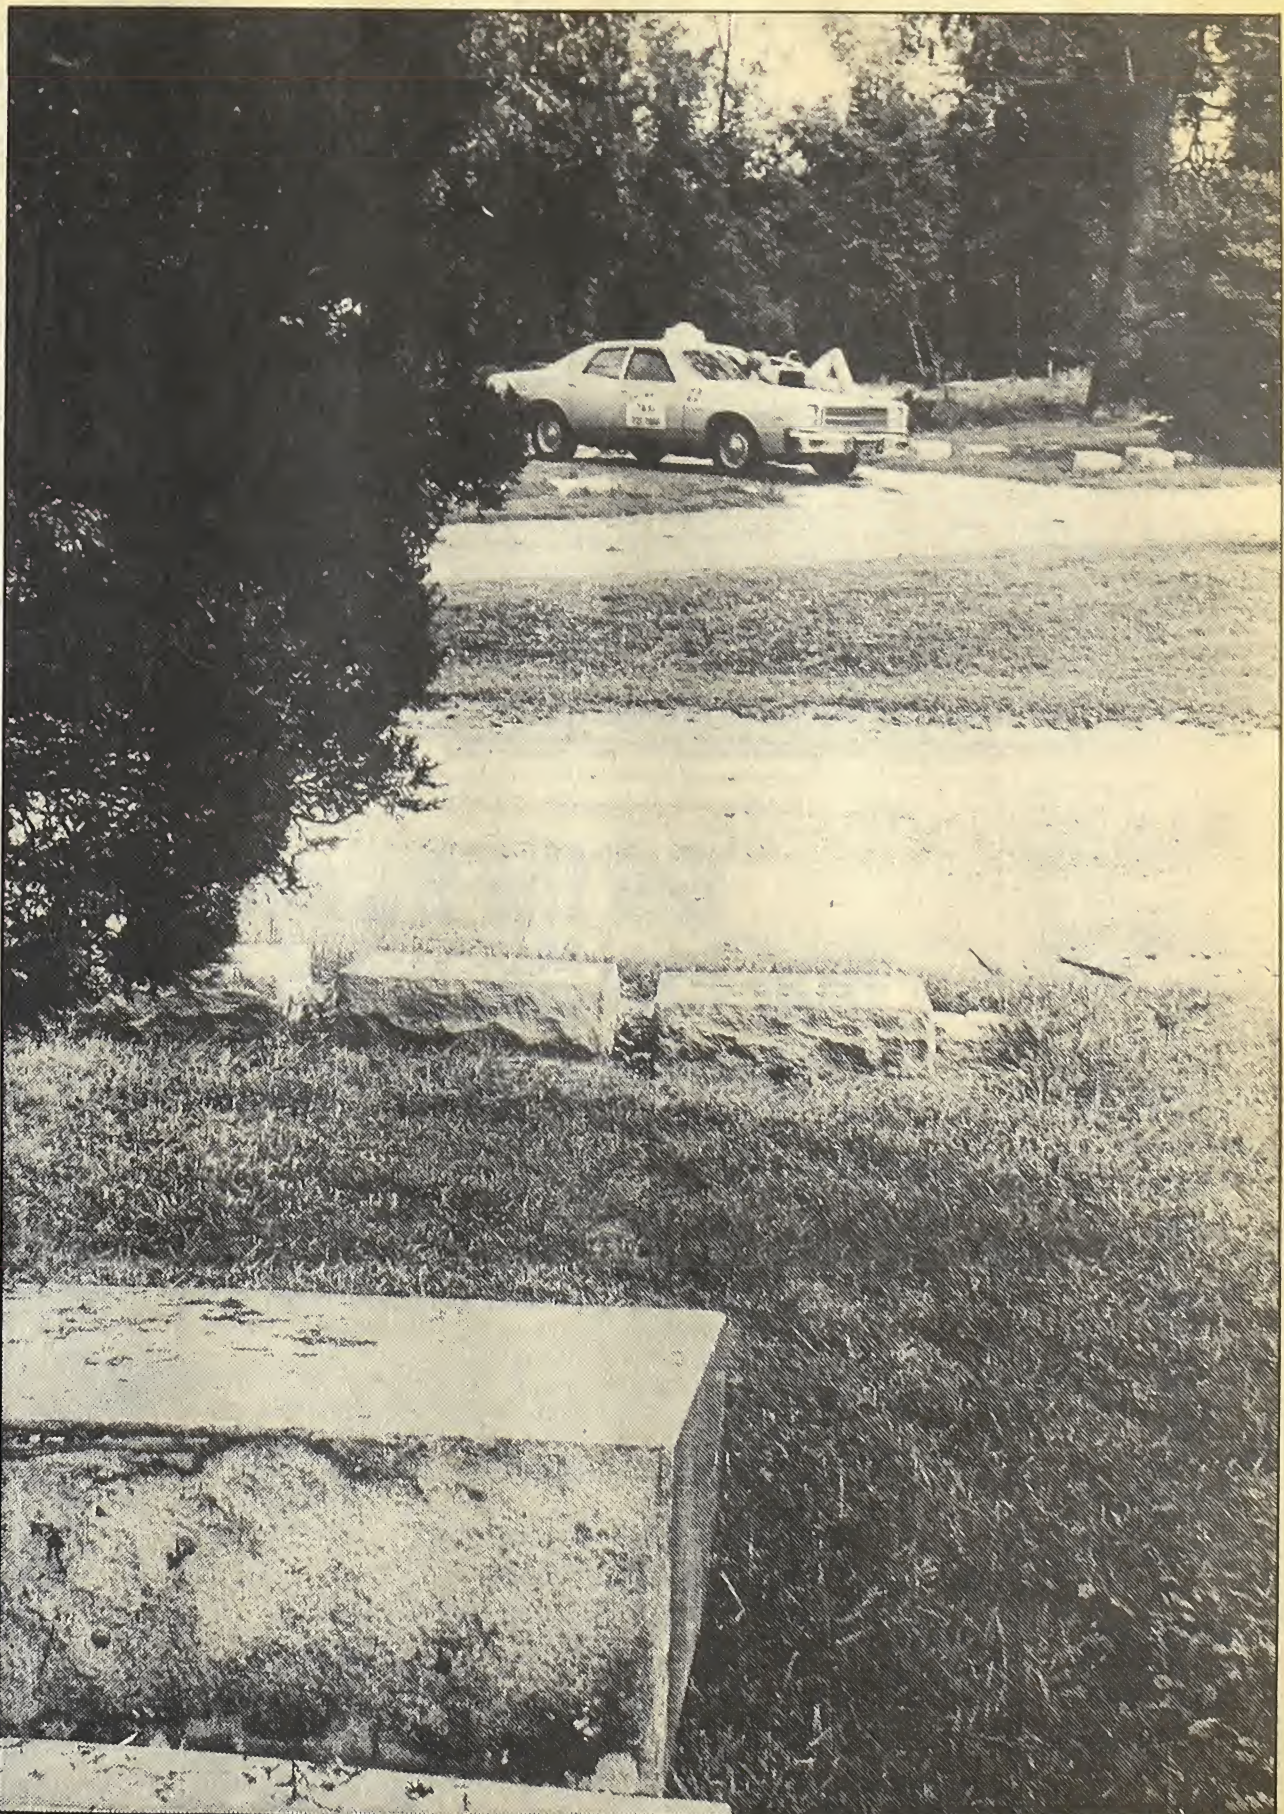

Continental Cable, with a good record of delivery, has begun working in Westland. They are offering everything Westland deserves and more in terms of the community's ability to make a sound return on the construction investment capital.

Barden Cablevision knowingly took on low-income and low-density markets such as Inkster, Van Buren and Romulus. The communities have been impatient at times, but wisely have remained patient. Barden has now taken on the ultimate cable challenge with the "Big D", a perilous venture, at best.

All of the aforementioned companies knew the risks going into the construction and no doubt anticipated making a profit of some consequence somehow. But some of the excitement has cooled. Just because technology has reached a state where it CAN be done,

'Resting in Peace'

letters . . . letters . . . letters

To the Editor:

I would like to direct this letter to Vickie Saladin and all the other "Vickies" like her who voted "no" on the Van Buren School Millage election of Monday June 11.

I hope that some day you will go with your son and daughter (or grandchild if that's the case), to the high school and wait for election returns only to hear them say it was defeated, and then sit and watch those children cry because they can not regain a six-hour day or any of the extra activities such as art, music, sports, clubs, etc. They will have to share books again and not be able to bring them home for better study.

It means not enough credits to begin college in another year. It means people like you forget that someone else's mother and father, grandmother and grandfather, aunt and uncle all helped put you through school at a time when your parents were pinching every penny.

$200 is a small price to pay in the end, to see our youngsters have all the things we had in school.

I hope someday you have to hear them cry themselves to sleep and that you can rest in peace knowing that it was you that stapped them in the face.

I would like to commend the school board for trying to meet the everyday chores of paying the phone bill, electric bill, gas bill (school bills go up just like everybody elses), and suggest they close another school, and another school, until you have to pay the high price of sending your children to a private school because there is nothing left here to be offered to you and your family. I feel the school does an excellent job considering it has to deal with a state that does not always give its best to its schools.

I wish you would have said "yes" and given your support to the citizens of tomorrow. Maybe you will be given another chance before your children start crying.

sue mcdonald speaking

They say she meets millions of people each year, so how could she remember meeting me ... a mere babe in arms in comparison to some who have had the opportunity to make her acquaintance.

It's been 21 years, but as I recall she was, considering she was pushing 80, an impressive lady. Tall ... very tall to a 13-year-old ... and stately. There was a look of concern in her face, but it was the same look that she wore for all who came to see her.

It seemed like it took forever to get to her home. The wind whistled around our heads as my family and I made the same trek that so many others had made before us and would make after us. The day, as I recall, was sunny, but the sun became brilliant as we approached. It seemed like the choppy waters of New York harbor became calm as we neared.

There, away from the dominance of what was then the highest building — the Empire State Building — she stood, proud and everlasting, almost the epitome of what these United States are all about.

The proud lady ... The Statue of Liberty.

I think the first time I met her I was too young to realize what that mecca of freedom really meant. I do remember the long, twisting climb on circular stair only wide enough for one person to her crown. The view was stunning ... the skyline of New York City, the Atlantic Ocean and nearby Ellis Island.

History was a way of life to me then. We were living in a farmhouse in the small Pennsylvania town of Trooper, within walking distance — we took a lot of long walks then, cars were a luxury — of

An impressive lady

Valley Forge and a short train ride from Philadelphia.

A few eeks earlier I'd experienced the ultimate. I'd seen and heard the President of the United States in a Fourth of July address from the steps of Independence Hall. What could this grand lady do to top that?

A second generation native born on my mother's side, the thought of what my grandparents faced as their ships pulled into New York harbor years before was the furthest thing from my mind. My mother, just a few steps away, may have been thinking about that, but in my youthful jubilation I was wondering what the view was like from the torch, already closed to the public because of age.

It wasn't until nine years later that I had the opportunity to experience what I can only guess was how emigrants felt as they headed for Ellis Island on their way to a new life in the United States. It was, by far, a fitting conclusion to the grand tour, and a grand 10-day cruise from Europe.

As the ship approached the harbor, we were awoken for an early breakfast and preparation for immigration. Unlike those before us, the immigration officers would check our passports on board. There was no docking at Ellis Island, no long wait in its big hall.

It was well before dawn as the tug boats steered us through the shallows of the harbor. The New York skyline was impressive. The World Trade Center drafted the Empire State Building, and the car lights of early risers twinkled along the shoreline.

That wasn't enough to empty the dining room of the ship. It was the announcement that we were approaching the Statue of Liberty that had people leaving their breakfasts untouched.

As we moved pass her, her crown and torch brightly lit against the dark sky, I had a feeling of what the emigrants must have felt when they first saw her. Unlike our nighttime passage through Straits of Gibraltar, where we craned our necks to see Africa and Europe at the same time and the highly visible Rock of Gibraltar, it was a solemn moment. American and foreigner alike were sharing in an experience few would forget.

The view of that grand lady is not so pretty these days. Her torch is gone, removed for repairs, and scaffolding envelopes her from head to toe as we prepare for her 100th birthday. Her restoration isn't a government project. It's being financed through the pennies collected by school children, corporate donations and money from we the people.

In 1986 the grand dame will stand tall again, a beacon to those seeking a new life. Her ever present companion, Ellis Island, will be a museum, dedicated to those who crossed that portal so many years ago.

I myself look forward to meeting her again ... to say thanks. Her welcome so many years ago was what this weary traveller needed. It was a wonderful reminder of what this country is all about. It also was a warm, cozy feeling looking at her that morning, knowing that after 3½ long months I was truly and really home.

Senseless raises

To the Editor:

In answer to Mr. Kielle's letter of June 27th, I for one senior citizen voted for a millage increase this time for the Van Buren District. However, I was glad it failed when I read that all non-union employees received a 4 percent raise.

That tells you why all millages fail — school cries for help and then gives raises. Does it make sense to you, it doesn't to me.

Faith in education

To the Editor:

Thank you for your help during the millage campaign. The victory you helped create on June 11, 1984 will have a lasting affect on this school district and the children it serves. In these troubled times, your dedication and faith to public education is impressive and should be a source of pride to you.

Unfair towing charges

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter concerning the charges I had to pay to Service Towing Co. According to the receipt they had to pull my car out of the ditch (but) there is no ditch behind Duke's Garage.

I called Mr. Duke, who is a personal friend of mine and he said that I could leave the car on his property and get it out in the morning for no charge. There was no safety hazard.

I don't think that Service Towing had any right to tow my car out of there whatsoever. It was on private property and I had permission to leave it there from Mr. Duke. I was charged $68 for the service which is a total ripoff for towing less than two miles.

When I went to pick up my car, the person behind the window would not take a check, had to have cash and they close at 6 p.m. By the time I went home to get my 24-hour bankcard, then to the 24-hour bank machine and back to the towing company they had closed.

According to the local paper they offer 24-hour service to the citizens of Westland. They don't. It wound up costing me another $4.

I went to the police department to complain to the officer behind the desk. He smiled and said that most everybody complains about the overcharging. The price is supposed to be $20. I don't know why he is charging most everyone $60. But there's nothing I can do about it.

What a shame.

no longer seems to mean it SHOULD be done. It may not be cost efficient or it may just not make sense to do it.

Businesses, by definition, exist to make a profit. If it can't be done profitably, then it doesn't make sense to do it. Research, however, costs money and experimentation to get the "bugs out" does make sense. But that is not, by and large, what is present here.

A GREAT WAY TO SERVE

Kids 'N computers

Fourth graders at Haggerty Road Elementary School had a few close encounters this year, but none quite as exciting as with computers. Fourth-grade teacher Debbie Grimm (left) sponsored a computer class for the youngsters through the Community Education Department, and the enthusiasm of the youngsters was reflected in the number of requests to be in the class. There were 15 positions open, with 45 youngsters wanting a chance to learn. Students were taught basic computer programming during the 10-week course. Parents were invited to participate in the program's finale, when their children became the teachers and taught them the wonders of a computer world. Working with Grimm in the class were Christy Cardinal (center) and parent Dawn Straitwell.

Fourteen students at Belleville South Junior High School have been awarded perfect marks for the third six-week marking period of the second semester of the 1983-84 school period.

Garnering all A's were seventh graders Amy Button, Kelly Glasser, Tobi Russell, Martin Schettler and Allison Wolters; eighth grader Cheryl Bird, Tesha Burris, Keith Glasser, April Marcum, Linda Murray, Faith Paroski and Cindy Wenzlick, and ninth grader Nancy Balsbaugh.

A story about Olympic trials

TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

There is more in the making of an Olympian than meets the muscle.

It can be a disappointing and frustrating experience, according to former Wayne Memorial wrestling coach John Wood who presently serves as President of the Michigan Wrestling Club.

As MWC president, Wood was invited to view the round-robin wrestle-off held recently at Grand Valley State College. The competition helped to determine the line-up of the U.S. Olympic Wrestling Teams which will compete in the Los Angeles Olympic Games.

"There is a lot of politics, and I believe I can say without reservation, some 'conflict of interest' involved in the selection of these wrestlers," Wood said. "This was my first experience with Olympic officiating and, to tell you the truth, it wasn't what I expected it would be."

"The system is a mess," Wood added. Citing examples in the inconsistencies of some officials, Wood said there was no doubt in his mind that the system to select "our wrestlers for the Olympics can be improved upon."

The area was represented at the Olympic Trials by Steve Fraser, who is a 198-pounder, and Steve Goss, a 180-pounder. Also seeking berths on the Olympic Team were Pete Lee of Grand Rapids and John Mathews of Schwartz Creek. Mathews and Lee, former Olympians, didn't make the grade this year, while Frazer did... in dramatic fashion.

Steve met an old nemesis, Mike Houck of Minnesota in the finals. Houck had defeated Fraser at least three times in the past and the two had split in the Olympic Trials, forcing a shutdown. In the third and final match, Houck gained a 3-0 edge—a pretty substantial edge—when Frazer pulled a 3-pointer at the end of the first period to tie at 2-all. There was no scoring in the second period, and, at the end, Fraser was awarded the victory on criteria.

"It was a thrilling match and, believe me, that's what athletic competition is all about," Wood offered.

"But, generally, the officiating was not of the caliber that I expected. There is too much inconsistency in the officiating."

Wood suggests the Olympic Wrestling Teams be selected a year in advance and wrestlers picked based on performance against foreign competition plus the total performances nationally against their peers.

"Instead of beating each other up at the trials like we did here at Grand Rapids," Wood continued, "picking the team a year in advance would give the wrestlers ample opportunity to train. Also, these wrestlers were at an emotional pitch a few weeks before the Olympics, now they must get back to that peak."

Will the absence of the Russians, who are among the world's best in the sport, have an effect on the U.S. grapplers in a way of preparing for Los Angeles?

3 days left to city golf entry deadline

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

There are only three days remaining to enter the 1984 "Silver Anniversary" City Golf Championships. The deadline to sign up for the tournament is 5 p.m., Fri., July 13.

"Although many familiar names will be back for the tournament," said Bill Hawley, tournament manager, "there are some veterans who have yet to be heard from. We would like to get all of those regulars back into the fold for this year's competitions."

The tournament will be staged the weekend of July 21-22 at Dun Rovin

Golf Course, on Haggerty Road in Plymouth Township. The 6,760-yard, par 72 course is in perfect condition, according to course officials.

The tournament is open to all male amateur golfers who reside or are employed in the cities of Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Garden City, Inkster and Canton Township. The competitions are staged to determine the line-up of the five-player teams which will represent their cities (and township) at the state Parks and Recreation tournament. Also, the tournament will determine the city champs of the competing communities.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three finishers of each of the flights, (additional flight competition will be held only if the total number from a city warrants it). There will also be prizes for the closest to the pin (18th hole) on each day of the competitions.

Golfers will play 18-holes the first day (July 21), then return the following day (July 22) for the championship round.

Trophies will also be awarded to the medalist (low scorer) of the entire field. A memorial traveling trophy will be presented in honor of Patrolman Leonard Anderson, the first Wayne police officer slain in the line of duty. The traveling trophy is awarded

Pasties: portable meat pies

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Managing Editor

It was a typical Friday morning in the kitchen for Norma Jackson, owner of Northwoods Pasties in Inkster.

She had peeled potatoes, chopped carrots and green peppers and mixed the vegetables with beef inside a dough covering. Her home-style pasties were ready to be heated and served.

Pasties, or as Jackson describes, "portable meat pies," are an inexpensive alternative to the more publicized "convenience" foods — hamburgers, hot dogs, pizza and tacos to name a few. Originated in Cornwall, England, these hot pies became an extremely popular item among miners in the Upper Peninsula before being offered in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Today Northwoods Pasties remains one of the few local outlets for freshly baked pasties. Situated in a residential area, this nondescript establishment is located at 1179 Henry Ruff, between Michigan Avenue and Cherry Hill.

Visitors from as far away as Livonia and Redford keep returning to the site of Jackson's kitchen for several reasons, most notably the "Northwoods." This combination of potatoes, beef and carrots is seasoned with onions and costs $1.30 for the seven-ounce version. The "Paul Bunyan" version (10 to 12 ounces) is priced at $1.85.

Other popular pasties include pies featuring green pepper ($1.35) and parmesan cheese ($1.40) with gravy offered at prices ranging from 30 cents to $1.10.

Other selections are a stacked ham and cheese sandwich

($1.80), submarine sandwich ($1.50), pizza rolls (85 cents), pizza slices (75 cents), and nachos and cheese (89 cents).

"Business has been picking up," noted Jackson, who began working at Northwoods Pasties 11 years ago and eventually purchased the business in 1977. "There are still people who don't know what a pasty is, but once they find out, they like it and come back."

"We sell frozen pasties which take only 4 to 6 minutes to heat up in a microwave or 20 minutes in a regular oven. It's a good product that is baked here everyday."

A carryout restaurant, Northwoods Pasties is open from 9:30 a.m. till 6:30 p.m. weekdays and from 9:30 a.m. till 3 p.m. Saturdays. The establishment is closed Sundays.

Discounts on large orders are available by contacting the restaurant at 729-7070.

Oy George

KOSHER CLUB
(Rhino)

This four-song mini-compilation album is another in a long line of fine parody records from Rhino Records. So, hot on the heels of the Kazoo Brothers doing "Whole Lot Of Love" and other hits comes this four-song E.P., featuring such artists as Oy George, Gefilte Joe & The Fish, the Screaming Faloshes and Georgie Girl. Bagels and lox, anyone?

Yep, this is a humorous Jewish record, with the laughs aimed at schlemiels and shleps of any and all persuasions.

According to the liner notes, Oy George is a frustrated 16-year-old singer who had trouble getting his music taken seriously until the popularity of Boy George (no relation) "made his unique, orthodox Jewish look more acceptable."

Oy George then "rewrote Culture Club's biggest hits to reflect his strong belief in Jewish pride," turning "Karma Chameleon" into "(Be) Come a Comedian." Reportedly, Oy George's next record will be a three-LP set recorded live at his brother's Bar Mitzvah.

This set contains Oy's version of that famous Beach Boys' hit, "Be True To Your Shul."

"When some schlemiel tries to put me down

And says he has a larger congregation

I tell him right away
Now listen here noodnick
Ain't you heard of my Shul
It's #1 in the nation
So be true to your Shul
Like you would to your mule

Under the auspice of Gefilte Joe and gang, Eddy Grant's hit "Electric Avenue" becomes a very funny "Fairfax Avenue," where you are told "You gotta shlep down to Fairfax Avenue/ You wouldn't believe the knishes." Joe claims that he know musical drag queen who cords than "that Black Shabbat, Schticks and Johnny Cougar!"

Georgie Girl, reputed to be the ex-girlfriend of a certain well known musical drag queen that pals around with Joan Rivers (confusing many people, no doubt), vented her frustrations from the relationship by recording "Yes I Really Want To Hurt You." Her advice for women the world over is "not to go out with boys who wear too much makeup."

The Screaming Faloshes are the first band ever to bridge the gap between Rastafarian and the Yiddish cultures, as evidenced by this version of "Rasta Jew," no doubt an old song by Bob Marleystein.

An unorthodox album to be sure, but well worth its weight in salt bagels.

Latronda Michelle Ways, the daughter of Marva L. Ways of Inkster, is a contestant in the Miss Michigan Teen All American Pageant this weekend in Frazer. Latronda is sponsored by Daniel Brinkman Investment Securities Inc. The 1981 Miss Preteen Inkster, Latronda currently holds the title of Miss Teen Inkster. She is a member of the Fairlane Momentum Fashion Panel in Dearborn. Latronda, 14, is a student at Bishop Borgess High School.

just married

Lauth--Birbeck exchange vows

Spring floral arrangements decorated the Wesley Church of Romulus for the June 2 marriage of Cecilia Ann Lauth of Belleville and Charles J. Birbeck, also of Belleville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Lauth of Belleville, while the groom is the son of Mrs. Pat Birbeck of Belleville.

Seventy-five guests were in attendance for the late afternoon ceremony, officiated by Rev. Steve Deneff. Les King provided the musical accompaniment for the double ring rite, performing "O Promise Me," "Trumpet Voluntary" and "There Is Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a full-length, A-line gown of white organza for her wedding. The gown was accented by a chapel train with bustle, a lace-trimmed Victorian neckline, bishop sleeves with a full cuff and a fitted waistline turning into a drop waist in the back. Silver venise lace and seeds pearls also dotted the gown.

She wore a garden hat with a tipped brim, accented with lace, and her waist-length veil was gathered in a bustle at the crown. She carried a small, round bouquet of white roses and mini-mums.

The bride asked her sister, Janice Welt of Romulus, to serve as her matron of honor. She wore an angel blue organza over taffeta floor-length gown, with full skirt, elbow-length puffed sleeves and ruffled, off-the-shoulder neckline. Hair-combs accented with white rosebuds and a white lace fan with blue silk flowers completed her ensemble.

Her bridesmaids were Kathy Burke of Ypsilanti, sister of the groom, Robin Lauth of Ypsilanti, sister of the bride, and Penny Mendis of Belleville, niece of the bride. The outfits matched that of the honor attendant.

Ringbearer was Rodney Burke of Ypsilanti, son of Mrs. Kathy Burke, while the flower girl was Elizabeth Welt, 4, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Welt. Her dress matched that of the bridesmaids, and she wore white rosebuds in her hair and carried a basket of white daisies and blue carnations.

The groom asked Tim Suliman of Belleville, a friend, to serve as his best man. The ushers were Robert Birbeck of Belleville, brother of the groom, Dan Welt of Romulus, brother-in-law of the bride, and Kevin Frost of Belleville, nephew of the groom.

Mrs. Lauth chose a cream-colored polyester gown with a floral chiffon jacket for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Birbeck wore a mint green floral polyester gown and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception for the newlyweds and 300 guests was held at the UAW Local 735 Hall in Belleville. The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the newlyweds' parents was held at the bride's parents home in Belleville.

The new Mrs. Birbeck is a 1979 graduate of Belleville High School and is employed by Unistrut in Wayne.

On Friday, June 15, Mrs. Adger Wall journeyed to Worthington, Ohio, where she joined members of her family to attend the wedding of her grandson, Scott M. Simcox, the son of Mr. Harry L. Simcox and the late Joyce Simcox and Diane E. Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wright of Dublin, Ohio, on Saturday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the United Presbyterian Church in Worthington.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Brookside Country Club in Dublin. After a two-week honeymoon in Hawaii, the young couple will make their home in Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Rodney (Gladys) Mast, a former Merle Court resident, now from Punta Gorda, Fla., has been visiting relatives and friends in the area this past week.

How lucky can one be? If you really want to know, just give Mrs. Justin (Mary) Emerson a call. She purchased a roll of film one day at Poloroid K-Mart promotion, put her name in the box and won a two-day expense paid stay for two at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island. She and her husband returned home Saturday, June 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevens and Suzanne were among the 55 members of the Shoup family who attended the annual family reunion, held July 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shoup at Middleburg, Ind.

The oldest member present was Mrs. Stevens' mother, Mrs. Chester Shoup of Morenci, who is 92 years of age. The member coming from furthest distance was a relative, Mrs. Gilbert Chipman from Portland, Oregon.

Guests last Friday at the home of Mrs. Henry Deering were relatives Joanna Savage from Phoenix, Ariz., Josephine and Phyllis Savage from Dearborn.

Mrs. Esther Burlingame spent the weekend of June 29, with her niece, Mrs. J.S. Fletcher, in Detroit and celebrated Esther's birthday, Sunday, July 1. She returned home the following Tuesday.

On Sunday, July 1, Mrs. Marjorie Potter of Liberty Street, accompanied her son, Morton Potter Sr. of Plymouth, and his son Morton Jr. of Wayne, to Flushing where they attended a dinner honoring Mrs. Potter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Martin on their 64th wedding anniversary.

Hosts for the occasion were the latter's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Steward of Pontiac. Also present were the Richard Le Moynes of Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warblow of Van Born Road returned home on Friday of last week after enjoying a week's motor trip along the shores of Lake Michigan. They rode on sand dunes, visited the Wisconsin Dells, visited their son, Michael Warblow and family at Deloit, Wis. and enroute home stopped in Grand Rapids to see their new grandson at the Robert Warblow home. Their grandchildren, Jenny and Barry from Deloit came home with them. The Warblows' daughter, Pam Higgins of Canton accompanied them on the trip.

Mrs. June Hawkins, daughter, Pam Compton with Stacy and Julie, of Loren Court, returned home Sunday, July 1, from Newton, Ohio, where they had attended the funeral of the former's mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Hawkins, who passed away June 28, after a lingering illness at 85 years of age.

The Dennis Wilson family from Caro spent last Monday with his parents, Russell and Rachel Wilson of Elwell Road. The latter's daughter, Janice Whitehouse of Dearborn joined them for dinner in the evening.

Carrie Gorga, daughter of the Gregory Gorgas of Bloomfield Hills spent the weekend with her maternal grandparents, Russell and Phyllis Seaman of Savage Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Orr spent a few days last week at Cedar Lake with the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bissell.

ELECT RALPH L. DUGAN SUPERVISOR HURON TWP.

"A SUPERVISOR WHO WILL FIGHT FOR YOU"

- Any transfer of sewer and water money to the General Fund will have to be at least approved at an Annual Meeting.
- I think that it is a disgrace that Western Wayne Co., the birth place of the automobile and the arsenal of democracy still is mud-bound every spring like it was 75 years ago.
- Transferring water and sewer fund amounts to taxation without a vote of the people.
- Many properties in Huron Township are over assessed for property taxes. At present there are so few valid property sales in Huron Township that it is impossible to arrive at fair market and values. I will correct this problem if elected.
- It also appears that our police department is attempting to take over our township board. This maneuver does not in my opinion serve the best interests of this township.
- We will also return to the days of more viable annual meetings.
- I do not have any relatives in this township or do I own any particular group any favors. My campaign is being financed solely by family funds.

CANCELLATIONS AND CORRECTIONS
Read your ad carefully the first time it appears, and report any errors before the next edition. This will be the only proof you will receive. Errors should be reported immediately as Associated Newspapers, Inc. can be responsible for the first insertion only. NO CASH REFUNDS WILL BE MADE.
PUBLICATION POLICY
The publisher reserves the right to edit or reject and properly classify advertising submitted for publication. Publisher shall not be held liable for typographical errors except to the extent of the cost of first insertion and then only for that portion of ad that may have been rendered valueless by such error. Advertisers are advised to check their ad immediately after it appears in the paper and report at once any error found. Claims for error adjustment must be made immediately after ad is published.
HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED AD
1. IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the item or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, it's better to start your advertisement with the location.
2. BE CLEAR Readers react more quickly and favorably when given complete or definite information. One of the most important considerations of any advertisement is to include the price.
3. MAKE IT EASY for the reader to reach you. ALWAYS INSERT your telephone number or your name and address if you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time to have prospects contact you.
4. PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good classified ad.
5. CLASSIFIED READERS are already interested in buying used or new merchandise. These people have the money and are in the market to buy. Use them every advantage you can with good ad copy.
6. CLASSIFIED ADS THAT FAIL to do so not through a lack of information, but because they are often quickly written and do not contain enough information to prompt action.
